END DRAWING NEAR.

Debate in Senate Expected to Close in a Short Time.

Considerable Difference of Opinion on Some Schedules of the Bill.

The First Defeat in the Senate for the Committee by the Opposition.

Washington, June 20. The Republican Senators in charge of the tariff bill begin to feel that the end is in sight. They do not hope to conclude the consideration of the bill by the close of the present week, but they expect by that time to be able to say when they can complete the work.

As a matter of fact the difficulty of adjusting the differences of the Republican party is causing the managers more perplexity at present than is the open opposition to the bill in the Senate. It has been found almost impossible to harmonize the contending forces among Republicans on the tobacco and wool schedules.

The differences on tobacco have been compromised, though not to the satisfaction of all concerned, and if there should be another caucus before the tobacco schedule is taken up in the Senate the question is liable to be reopened there.

The wool schedule will confront the Senate Monday and it is the purpose to press it forward. Hence it will be impossible to postpone for a much longer time the settlement of the differences on this question. The wool schedule will of course give rise to an animated debate, but the Democratic Senators say they have no disposition to needlessly prolong it. There are numerous articles on the free list and "sundry" schedule to arouse differences of opinion, and if the Republicans don't withdraw the internal revenue features of the bill there will be a sharp clash over this.

They are practically decided however, to retreat from these provisions. It is practically determined that the House provision in regard to Hawaiian sugar will be continued pending the disposition of the Hawaiian annexation treaty.

For the rest the question of reciprocity and the problem presented by the duties in connection with the tariff are still undetermined by the Republicans themselves.

Saturday in the Senate—The First Break.

Washington, June 19. The day was rendered noteworthy in the Senate by the defeat of the Finance Committee on four important paragraphs in the flax, hemp and jute schedules of the tariff bill. These were the paragraphs relating to floor matting, plain jute fabrics, burlaps and cotton bagging. The Democrats were enabled to carry their point against these paragraphs by the assistance of the silver Republicans and Populists, and by the help of Carter and Hansbrough, Republicans, on the paragraph relating to matting.

It was the first vote during the consideration of the bill on which any Republican had broken away from the party and naturally occasioned some comment. The Democrats were especially pleased with the result of their opposition to the portion of the schedule relating to bags and bagging.

The Senate adjourned at 4 o'clock after completing the hemp schedule.

The programme in the House will be the same as during the past weeks. There will be two sessions, Monday and Thursday. It is probable the Committee on Rules will bring in a special order Monday for the consideration of the bill appropriating the money to repair the drydock at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and the bill will no doubt be passed.

MILITIA CALLED OUT.

Desperate Street Brawl at South Framingham, Mass., Sunday—Officer Nearly Killed.

South Framingham, Mass., June 20. A street brawl by drunken Italian laborers, the attempted arrest of one of them by officers, one of whom was nearly killed, led to the calling out of the local militia company at an early hour this morning.

The Italians came from Natick just after midnight and four had a savage fight. Officers Trace and Bastien attempted to arrest a ringleader. The Italians set upon them and Officer Bastien was badly clubbed with a bottle of beer.

The officer sank unconscious from a badly fractured skull. The Italians fled. Officer Trace fired three shots at them. The militia were called out to scour the town for the Italians. Three men were arrested, two of whom Officer Trace identified.

Bastien's condition is hopeless.

YALE CREW ARRIVES.

Now the Experts Can Get a Line on Merits of the Crews.

The Yale Men Look as Formidable as Any Crew They Ever Had.

Heavier by Many Pounds Than the Others—No Rowing on Sunday.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 20. Yale is here. The arrival of the brawny giants will show make it possible for the collegiate experts who have picked winners and condemned methods to change their opinions. That the men who landed tonight will be in the race is apparent. Never was seen such a lot of stalwart looking men. The eight as picked to row on Varsity day weigh just 192 pounds more than the Cornell men and about 40 pounds more than the Harvard boys. When they row over the course for the first time tomorrow they will be watched by hundreds of anxious eyes. So far as can be seen they form as equally a formidable crew as Yale ever had.

The boating colony made this looking gay and everybody seemed to be pretty successful in keeping it faithfully.

Early this morning the Harvard men took a boat for West Point, where they enjoyed the entire day in sight-seeing.

At Cornell some of the men went to church and others lounged while the assistants of Mr. Courtney looked over the boats. Frederick Vanderbilt's yacht Conqueror came up the river and lies near Columbia's boathouse. None of the crews rowed today.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

Special Accession Day Services at Westminster and at St. Paul's.

London, June 20. In the afternoon and evening there were special accession day services at Westminster Abbey and at St. Paul's Cathedral.

At St. George's chapel, Windsor, in the afternoon a special musical service was held, at which most of the members of the royal family, except the Queen and the Empress Frederick, who had attended the morning service, were present.

All day the streets of London have been crowded and there has been an incessant traffic of country people along the procession route. The decorators are busy on the stands, where they will work all night. This evening the streets along which the procession will go are almost impassable and the crowds are very noisy.

A GENERAL RIOT.

Shooting by Negroes with Fatal Effect at Gadsden, Ala., on Sunday.

Gadsden, Ala., June 20. Henry Thomas, a negro, excursionist from Birmingham to-day, fired into a party of Gadsden negroes just as the train was leaving and wounded Will Garner, a local cabman.

Garner and his friends returned the and a general riot ensued. Thomas was shot in the back and neck, and was stabbed twice in the shoulders and will die.

Two other Birmingham negroes were shot and another was stabbed. Mean whiskey was the cause of the trouble.

TWO HOLD-UPS.

Highwayman Causes Excitement in Massachusetts.

Wilmington, Mass., June 20. Residents of this town are greatly excited over reports of two hold-ups that occurred late last night, which, from the description furnished are believed to have been the work of the same man who held up the motorman of an electric car in Reading.

Mr. Gilchrist was returning home and when on Main street, not far from his house, a man grabbed his horse's bridle and ordered Gilchrist to stand and deliver. The latter whipped up his horse and succeeded in getting away.

A few minutes later two bicyclists called at Gilchrist's house, saying that they had been accosted at the same place by a man they thought was a negro.

The highwayman fired two shots after them, one of which disabled one of the rider's wheels. The riders remained at Mr. Gilchrist's house over night.

The locality where the holdups occurred is sparsely settled.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Transportation Companies Notified of Violations of the Law.

Washington, June 20. In accordance with the law for the suppression of contagious diseases among domestic animals, Secretary Wilson has issued to managers and agents of transportation companies, steamboat and others a circular notifying them that the contagious disease known as sheep scab or scabies of sheep, exists among sheep in the United States and that it is a violation of the law to receive for transportation, or transport any stock affected with that disease from one State, or territory, to another.

It is also a violation of the law to deliver for transportation by any railroad company or boat or vessel any sheep knowing them to be affected with the contagious disease referred to; and it is also unlawful to drive on foot or transport in private conveyances from one State to another sheep so affected.

Transportation companies and individuals engaged in shipping and transporting sheep are requested to co-operate with the department in the enforcement of the law.

HERE IT IS AGAIN.

A Reiteration of Story of Instructions by the President.

To U. S. Minister Woodford, Regarding Spain's Attitude Toward Cuba.

Withdrawal of Spanish Would Lead to Repetition of Hawaiian Incident.

London, June 21. The Washington correspondent of the Chronicle reiterates today his previous statement, as to the alleged instructions given by President McKinley to Gen. Woodford, minister to Spain, and added:

"Spain will be permitted to exercise merely a titular sovereignty over Cuba. President McKinley believes that Cuba must ultimately be annexed to the United States. The withdrawal of the Spanish troops will lead to a repetition of the Hawaiian incident."

NEW ARBITRATION TREATY

May be Sent to the Senate by the President, Rumor Has It.

Washington, June 19. It has been determined by President McKinley to revive the abandoned treaty of general arbitration between the United States and Great Britain, and a new treaty has already been drafted to serve as the basis of negotiations which are expected to result in the submission of a convention to the Senate, to replace the one which failed early in the present session. In this draft there are none of the objectionable points which caused the failure of the Olney treaty.

It is not in contemplation that the treaty will be submitted to the Senate before next December, and there is every reason to believe that the attitude of the Senate toward a new treaty will be fully canvassed and understood before the treaty is signed.

It is understood the initiative in the present case will be taken by this government.

It is expected that a draft will be in London at no distant date. The features in the former treaty which were objected to by the Senate were the naming of King Oscar of Norway and Sweden as fifth arbitrator; the inclusion of questions of national policy, such as the Monroe doctrine and the construction of the Nicaraguan canal; the exclusion of the Senate from participation upon each specific subject of arbitration, and the fixed tenure of the arbitrators.

A CLOUDBURST.

Considerable Damage in Several States by Severe Storms on Sunday.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 20. Reports from upper East Tennessee, southwest Virginia and western North Carolina indicate severe storms during Saturday night and Sunday.

A cloudburst just across the state line near Bristol did considerable damage and has delayed trains on the Southern road.

THE MAINE CENTRAL.

A Vigorous Policy of Re-adjustment to be Adopted, it is Said.

Portland, Me., June 20. President Tuttle, of the Boston & Maine, is quoted as having told a prominent Maine man that a vigorous policy of re-adjustment was to be adopted with regard to the Maine Central system.

Every position which can be abolished will be cut off and in every position in which some other man can do the work better than the man who holds it a change will be made.

FIVE CHILDREN BURNED.

One is Dead and Others will Die—Burned in Their Home.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20. Fire last night partly destroyed the home of Joseph McOneski, in East Buffalo.

Five children were severely burned. One died this morning and the others can't recover.

DEATH DUE TO VIOLENCE.

The White Murder Case at Hull, Mass.—Three Arrests Made.

Hull, Mass., June 20. The decision of the medical examiner after the autopsy on the body of private Joseph White of Fort Warren was that death was due to violence.

Thomas F. McKone, engineer of the dredger; Wm. Stobler, engineer of the tow boat, and James S. Olan, tow boat fireman, were arrested to-day.

They stuck to the former story that they assisted White down to the wharf and placed him on a settee.

The other nine men are as good as arrested.

INDUSTRIAL REVIVAL.

Brighter Prospects Along the Monongahela Valley.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 20. An industrial revival along the Monongahela valley has started and prospects are brighter than for months past.

The Edgar Thomson and the Homestead Steel Works resumed this evening, running full.

At Braddocks the Pittsburg and the Rankin Wire Works are in full operation. The Duquesne forge is on full time for the first time in two years.

At McKeesport, the National Tube Works put in operation additional departments to-day and the Dowees Wood Co. is reported as likely to start up in a few days.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Diplomatic Relations Resumed.

Paris, June 19. At the cabinet meeting to-day, M. Hanotaux, the minister for foreign affairs, announced the resumption of diplomatic relations with Venezuela, and the apology of that republic for the incident which led to the rupture.

France, it was further announced, had obtained a settlement of the pending indemnity claims by their reference to a special commission by arrangement, for the subject of tariffs, in which France has a special advantage.

Barnato Buried.

London, June 20. The interment of the late Barney Barnato took place this afternoon (Sunday) at the Jewish cemetery in Willison.

Earthquake Shocks.

San Francisco, June 20. Two sharp and severe shocks of earthquake were felt in this State today in several places. Much damage is reported.

A runaway horse went racing down Middle street, Portland about 6 o'clock Thursday night and was caught by Dan Conway, the Boston and Maine conductor in front of the Falmouth Hotel. It was a plucky stop and Mr. Conway is entitled to great credit for it.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

The Peace Conference Still in State of Negotiation.

Emperor William Said to Have Requested of the Sultan of Turkey

That He Cause Speedy Evacuation of Thessaly—Matter of Indemnity.

Athens, June 20. It is rumored that Emperor William has sent a telegram to the Sultan requesting him to speedily evacuate Thessaly.

There is no indication that any settlement has yet been reached in the peace negotiations.

End Not Yet.

Constantinople, June 19. The reports in circulation relative to the basis upon which definite peace between Turkey and Greece will be agreed upon are entirely fanciful. According to the best information obtainable, the peace negotiations are proceeding favorably, but are not yet concluded.

The draft of the treaty of peace is likely to be submitted to the powers next week. The amount of the indemnity which Greece will pay has not been fixed upon, but it is believed that at the utmost the sum will be 5,000,000 Turkish, the largest amount Greece could pay.

It has also been generally conceded for some time past that the Turkish Government has given up the idea of the retention of Thessaly, and it is understood that the changes in the frontier line will be slight.

ALL OVER THE STATE.

The rains in May did a great deal for the meadow fields and what were not winter killed are in fine condition but it cannot make good the damages done in that way, says an Aroostook correspondent. Grain crops are looking well and the damage done by seed potatoes rotting in the ground won't be large. Looking ahead the prospects in Aroostook are brighter than a year ago and if our people were out of debt there would be no cry about hard times. A year ago last winter was a disastrous one and it was impossible to make a dollar on even to come out of any business whole, but the past winter every one was busy and on the make, and many old bills were paid up. The farmers of Aroostook are not buying 82,800 stock houses, selling plows and 870 ranges. Formerly the agent for almost everything grew fat but he reaps a poor harvest up there now. He is not invited into the farmer's parlor as in the days gone by. He is fortunate now if he does not leave the seat of his pants in the jaws of a bull dog.

Dog Officer DeBrun, of Lewiston, and his dog catching invention threatens the destruction of all unlicensed canines. The machine consists of a net containing a live kitten as a bait and a larger net that entangles the dog when he dashes at the cat. According to reports the machine is a success.

The schooner Grampus came into Portland Friday on her way eastward. On board the Grampus are 1,250,000 lobster fry, which will be released in Maine waters, as the seed lobsters from which the eggs were secured were captured off the Maine coast. The steamer Fish Hawk will probably arrive in this vicinity in the course of a few weeks and will then assist the Grampus in the work of increasing the lobster supply. The officers connected with the Grampus say that they are meeting with excellent success in hatching out lobsters and they are confident that it will not be long before the result of their work will be appreciated by the fishermen.

Work is slack in the Auburn shoe shops. Wise & Cooper let their cutters go Saturday and their stitchers and bottomers will go out next week preparatory to their annual stock taking. Ara Cushman & Co. report business very dull. The stitchers of Maurice, Packard & Lincoln have been out the past week but were to go in again Saturday. This has been due to their annual stock taking, which is now under way. They also report business very slack. The other concerns are running in a desultory manner, but none are doing the business they would like to.

A traveling Hebrew who has been selling accordions in Biddeford was arrested Friday morning by Officer Roderique, on the charge of evading his board bill. Last Friday he appeared at the Commercial House and asked Mrs. Shapleigh to take him in for a week. The terms were given him and he appeared perfectly satisfied. During the last two days Mrs. Shapleigh noticed that he was taking his stock of accordions away from the house, and when she asked him to pay him board bill, he replied that he only had a dollar and if she wanted to take that, all right; if not she could go without her pay. He left the house and a complaint was made to Marshal Harmon, and the officers were notified to arrest him on sight. He remained around town but would always skip when an officer showed up, and was about to get out of town when he was discovered by Mrs. Shapleigh's son Frank on Laconia street. Officer Roderique went down and placed him under arrest, and he was taken to Mrs. Shapleigh's and given a chance to pay his bill. He still would not give over a dollar, and in fact it was all he had, he claimed. When searched at the police station about $5 was found on his person. He was then placed in a cell.

There are 25 owners of wheels in Biddeford who are mad enough to shoot. The object of all this wrath, and it is genuine, deep-seated and comes straight from the wrath factory without transfer, is the telegraph company that is removing all the tin end other signs from its poles around the city preparatory to having the poles painted. It is claimed that the employes in removing the tacks throw them into the street.

The corner stone of the new Portland Y. M. C. A. building will be laid some time this week, probably Wednesday morning if the weather is propitious. The exercises will be brief, consisting of short addresses by some well known members or officers of the association and by Mayor Randall.

Allie Russell, Charlie Cummings, Lester Hewey, Fley Driscoll, Arthur White and Michael Carter, all of Auburn, and aged from 8 to 13 years, were in the Auburn police court Friday, charged with running a freight car off the Grand Trunk siding in Auburn Wednesday. It was an empty flat car and one of the number knocked the trig and the car started down the grade to the main line jumping the track near the main line. It was ten minutes before the 3.07 passenger train was due, but Agent Brown was notified by telephone from the Whitman works in time to prevent accident to the incoming train. It was a serious offence and is punished by imprisonment not exceeding two years or by fine not exceeding $500. Recorder Verrill continued the cases after giving the boys a good lecture.

A Valuable Prescription.

Editor Morrison, of Worthington, Ind., "Sun," writes: "You have a valuable prescription in Electric Bitters, and I can cheerfully recommend it for Constipation and Sick Headache, and as a general system tonic it has no equal." Mrs. Annie Stehlin, 2625 Cottage Grove Ave., Chicago, was all run down, could not eat nor digest food, had a backache which never left her and felt tired and weary, but six bottles of Electric Bitters restored her health and renewed her strength. Prices 50 cents and $1.00.

Serious Results of a Cold—Cough Was Growing Worse, But Hood's Sarsaparilla Entirely Cured It.

"In the spring of 1894 I took cold and it settled on my lungs. I began to cough and kept growing worse all the time. My husband was paying out a great deal of money for medicine but I continued to grow weaker every day and in the winter of 1895 I gave up hopes of ever getting better. After this I read of people gaining strength by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and my husband advised me to try this medicine. Before I had finished the first bottle I felt that I was growing stronger and my cough was looser. After taking two bottles my cough was gone. I continued taking this medicine and I am now in better health than I have been for years." MARY A. BARTH, La Grange, Maine.

The Third District.

The only question involved in the special election in the Third Congressional District to-day, is the size of Governor Burleigh's majority. The result is so well assured that it is likely to have the effect of materially reducing the Republican vote. It is a busy time with the farmers and in the absence of a live contest many of them may refrain from going to the polls. That Governor Burleigh will be elected by a very decisive majority, however, the Democrats themselves admit. He stands upon a sound platform and is in perfect accord with the overwhelming sentiment of the district, which has no use for the free silver-free trade Democratic policy.

Deliberately Misrepresented.

Yellow journalism is not confined to New York. The Boston Herald last week announced that Secretary Sherman was opposed to the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands, had signed the treaty because compelled to do so by stress of circumstances and as a result would very soon retire from the Cabinet. It was then alleged that the Secretary had expressed the hope to the Portuguese Minister that the treaty would fail in the Senate. Mr. Sherman has been interviewed in connection with these reports and said:

"The story is a lie from beginning to end. There is not one word of truth in it. The statement that I held such a conversation with the Portuguese Minister is false.

"I saw the Minister for a moment or two when he made his customary call on diplomatic day, but Hawaii or the treaty was not mentioned.

"The Minister is also very indignant that there should have been such a misrepresentation. Why reputable newspapers will publish such falsehoods is inexplicable.

"You can state that the story that I am opposed to the annexation treaty, and that I told the Portuguese Minister that I was, and that I am going to resign because I do not agree with President McKinley's policy, is a lie out of whole cloth.

"My position on the general question of the annexation of territory by the United States has been defined in my public speeches time and again. But, in the case of Hawaii, conditions have changed, and the controversy between Japan and Hawaii, with the possibility of war, makes it proper that we should annex Hawaii. You can state emphatically that I am in favor of the annexation of Hawaii."

The Portuguese Minister emphatically denies having represented the Secretary as declaring against the treaty so that it appears the reports were manufactured for a sensation. The worst feature of the Herald's offence is that it pretends to regard the sweeping denial of its report as insincere on the part of Secretary Sherman, who, it still insists, is bound to leave the Cabinet. For a paper that poses as being considerably above the average journal this is about as "yellow" an exhibition as has been presented for many a day.

Past and Present.

In view of the events now occupying the attention of the people in connection with the Hawaiian Islands, the Philadelphia Press recalls an entirely different class of events which happened just four years ago. A treaty was prepared in the last few weeks of the Harrison Administration proposing the annexation of Hawaii to the United States and this treaty was pending before the Senate when Grover Cleveland became President. There were rumors that the new Administration was not well disposed toward the annexation project, but there was no expectation that any steps would be taken which would dishonor the country or injure its interests. A simple narrative will show whether this expectation was met.

Grover Cleveland became President of the United States on Saturday, March 4, 1893. On Monday, March 6, his selection of Cabinet Ministers was confirmed by the Senate. The Cabinet had time to hold only one meeting when the country heard with surprise that on the 9th Cleveland had withdrawn from the Senate the Hawaiian treaty. With a haste that was insulting to his predecessor Mr. Cleveland made his first move on the Hawaiian chess board. Still the country was patient and waited for the full development of the President's policy. It did not wish to judge hastily. There was no long to wait, however, for events moved rapidly. Meanwhile the American flag had been raised over the Hawaiian Islands by the responsible majority in Honolulu and the virtual annexation of the islands to the United States had been proclaimed.

The next step of Mr. Cleveland was the appointment of a special commissioner to the Islands. Ex-Congressman Blount was selected for this office and he was given powers "paramount" over any one then representing the United States in Honolulu. He was appointed March 10, and ten days later he sailed from San Francisco for his post of duty. April 5 he arrived at Honolulu and on April 13 the Stars and Stripes were hauled down from the flagstaff on which they had been run up, and hauled down by the order of Grover Cleveland, President of the United States. The next move in the policy of infamy was the request on the part of President Cleveland's special envoy that the free and representative Government which had been formed in Hawaii should abdicate and permit the return to power of the corrupt and debauched woman who claimed to rule by right divine over the islands, a woman who declared that she would behead the men who had the courage to take the Government out of her weak and defiled hands.

It was weeks before the American people learned the true and full nature of these transactions. But the truth gradually dribbled out and it was confirmed later by the official documents laid before Congress. And when the knowledge of the affair became public the first emotion which seized the American people was one of amazement at the colossal blunder made by the Administration. This was succeeded by a feeling of shame and indignation that the country had been disgraced and humiliated in the eyes of the world and that its disgrace and humiliation were due to a man whom it had raised to its highest office. The rest of the story of the Hawaiian ignominy need not be repeated. It is burned into the memory of the American people and a generation will pass before it will cease to make their ears tingle with shame.

This was "paramountism." Three months and a half ago another Administration came into power. It represents a great majority of the American people, which the previous Administration never did, and it was elected on the distinct pledge that "the Hawaiian Islands should be controlled by the United States, and no foreign power should be permitted to interfere with them." There was far more reason for a sudden and complete change in policy than existed in 1893. But the plan pursued has been dignified and patriotic. In order to give consistency and continuity to the foreign policy of the nation, affairs were permitted to work themselves out slowly and intelligently, and at last when it could be done without the appearance of a sudden and testy break the new policy was announced. This is statesmanship. Four years ago the nation was humiliated by a policy which has been rightly named "paramountism," and it cut a proud people to the quick to have the disgrace thrust upon them. Today the country stands proud and erect, because it knows its honor will be conserved. The contrast between the two events is an object lesson as to the difference between Clevelandism and statesmanship.

Articles on Historical Papers by Woodrow Wilson, John Bach MacMaster, and James Barnes. The true story of Sheridan's Ride, by Gen. G. A. Forsyth. Continuation of Howells's Personal Recollections of Century Life and Literature in America.

The Century

IN 1897.

ALL NEW FEATURES.

The Century will continue to be in every respect the leading American magazine, its table of contents including each month the best in literature and art. The present interest in American history makes especially timely A Great Novel of the American Revolution, the leading serial feature for 1897, and the masterpiece of its author, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell. The story, "Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker," purports to be the autobiography of its hero, an officer on Washington's staff. Social life in Philadelphia at the time of the Revolution is most interestingly depicted, and the characters include Washington, Franklin, Lafayette, and others well known in history. It is safe to say that the reader of this great romance will obtain from it a clearer idea of the people who were foremost in Revolutionary days, and of the social life of the times, than can be had from any other single source. The work is not only historically accurate, but is a most interesting story of love and war. The first chapters are in the November number. Howard Pyle will illustrate it.

Campaigning With Grant, by General Horace Porter, is the title of a series of articles which has been in preparation for many years. General Porter was an aide on General Grant's staff and a close friend of his chief, and the diary which he kept throughout the war is the basis of the present articles, which are striking pen pictures of campaign life and scenes. They will be fully illustrated. The first one is in the November Century.

A new novel by Marion Crawford, author of "Mr. Isaacs," "Dr. Claudius," "A Roman Singer," etc., entitled, "A Lady of Rome of Yesterday," a story of modern life in Europe, with American characters, begins in November. The first of a series of engravings, made by the famous wood-engraver, T. Cole, of the old English masters also is in this issue. New features will be announced from time to time.

Freshman Caught Cribbing.

New Haven, June 19.—For two days exaggerated reports have been rife in the Yale college campus to the effect that the faculty had detected a case of gross deception on the part of a Yale student who was in charge of the Ferry preparatory to the boat race at Saratoga.

Following are the facts in the case: One member of the freshman crew was detected in "cribbing" after a portion of an examination was found in his desk. The student's examination was soon afterward stopped by the instructor in charge, who came to New Haven and reported the matter to the freshman faculty. The student, was immediately dropped from the crew by the management of the Yale navy and in response to orders from New Haven, refused to compete for the Ferry. It is expected that the case will be dealt with summarily. Where the blame for the cribbing lies is not known, but it is said that other students are involved in the matter.

NEWS BY CABLE.

London in the Midst of Preparations for the Jubilee.

Over Six Thousand Lives Lost by Earthquake —Other Items.

London, June 19.—(Special Cable Letter.)—London is in the midst of jubilee fever. The streets are impassable, resembling a mixture of carpenter's shop and country fairs. They are crowded with excursionists from all parts of England who are coming in on special trains at all stations. Everything seems to have been half done and incomplete. Many of the decorations are already seedy from two days' storm. Nothing, however, seems to be lacking in enthusiasm, unless it is in the case of the syndicates of speculators in jubilee seats, who, at all places except St. Paul's Cathedral, are accepting any reasonable offer.

The combined losses of the four largest speculators exceed $200,000 and on every hand are inquiries as to "Who are the Americans?" Considerable disgust and even resentment is expressed at the fact that the Americans have not bought up all the available seats at the speculators' prices. Much sarcasm is directed against the stand holders. While the Daily Chronicle has a sketch in which Nelson, speaking from the "pillar" his monument in Trafalgar square, is supposed to say:

"Board of trade! England expects every man to be shiftless."

In addition, St. Martins is depicted as taking up a sign on his church reading: "Protestant House of the Lord to let. Apply to the money-changers of the country."

Rod Tape Officials Brought to Their Senses.

A strange tale is vouched for by one London paper. It says that a wealthy member of the Irish aristocracy had paid £250, ($1,250) for a room on St. James street. He is suffering, it is added, from a hideous malformation of the countenance, and arrive late Monday night, will spend one night in the room, referred to, and will view the procession with its adjuncts, and other people being excluded from the room.

For 27 years, it is further stated, only two people have seen his face. The unfortunate man drives every night about London and, on entering and leaving his carriage, according to the newspaper, he covers his head with a hood.

A decided note of the festivities is the clearing away in which some of the colonial soldiers have been treated. Again and again various detachments have arrived at noon but have met with no information as to where they should go and they found no food ready for them when they finally reached their barracks. The scandal was at last taken up by the press, especially by the Pall Mall Gazette, the Globe and the Daily Mail, and the Prince of Wales himself brought the red tape officials to their senses. There was a marked change when the Canadians arrived. Though it was midnight, a large number of officers were in waiting on the platform and a band of music played the Canadians to their barracks, where they found their quarters and supper all ready for them.

Theatres Doing a Poor Business.

For the present the theatres are doing a poor business, but it is probable that this "slump" which is the chief topic of conversation in theatrical circles, will come to a head with the jubilee celebration, which is Cowdrey's chief cause. "Queen's Service," is however, an exception to the general gloom and is doing as well as the Comedy theatre to which it was referred last Monday. Yesterday it did nothing for four weeks, and at the Adelphi where Miss Olga Nethersole made her appearance Thursday the "Lottery Ticket."

The attempt to place Drury Lane theatre on a sound financial basis under the management of Arthur Collins has proved a complete success.

Wilson Barrett, who is indulging in a trip to Switzerland, expects to bring back with him the new play on which he is working well advanced towards completion. However, it has already been stated he will open in autumn with "Hamlet" and "The Silver King," before producing his new piece.

Emperor William's Response to a Toast.

Berlin, June 19.—At the banquet held in the Gurzenich Saal at Cologne, yesterday, after the unveiling there of a statue to Emperor William I, the emperor, replying to the burgomasters toast, said: he remembered the glorious time when the strong forms of my grandfather and father were seen among the citizens of Cologne. His majesty added:

"Thoughts and calculations my much lamented father should have stood on the spot I now occupy, but providence willed it otherwise."

Continuing, Emperor William cordially thanked the city of Cologne for its loyalty to the fatherland and expressed appreciation of the astonishing development made by the city since his majesty's last visit.

The emperor concluded with declaring he would follow in the footsteps of his grandfather, maintain the peace which has existed since there has been a Germany, defend German rights in every way and retain a market for German products.

Over 6,000 Lives Lost by an Earthquake Shock.

Simla, June 19.—It is announced today that over 6,000 lives have been lost in the earthquake disturbances in the province of Assam.

A message of condolence has been received from Queen Victoria.

Several People Killed and Injured in a Cyclone.

Paris, June 19.—The Gaulois this morning says that 20 people were killed and 80 injured in the cyclone which swept over the villages of Ambenon, Colombes and Asnieres yesterday afternoon.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

A Champion Fast Bicyclist Has an Altercation with Soldiers.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 19.—Charles S. Braswell, champion fast bicyclist of Wyoming, has been arrested here charged with murder of Private McCrimness, 9th United States Infantry.

Tuesday night, while riding on his wheel, Braswell ran into a crowd of nine soldiers, knocking one down. An altercation followed in which Braswell shot McCrimness dead, then escaped to his home.

The soldiers followed and battered in the doors and windows of the house with rocks. While this was going on Private Thomas Mooney shot Braswell. It was believed at the time that the injuries of both men were slight, and Braswell entered an appearance for assault, wounded and Mooney is in a critical condition and will probably die.

DIED IN THE PUMP SHAFT.

Sad Fate of a Carpenter on the German Bark Maria.

New York, June 19.—The German bark Maria with a full cargo of lumber for Liverpool, has at anchor off Quarantine. While the men were at work in the pump shaft, the Maria finished loading yesterday and took out for Liverpool. The men were lowered down the hatchway and were working before calling for breakfast.

Which was taken on board and today the second carpenter, Bailey, went down through a manhole into the pump shaft to secure the cover on the water pipe. No one aboard of the bark saw the Bailey go down the shaft and when breakfast was served the carpenter was missed. Bailey was then called and the fact that the water tank was empty was noticed.

One of the sailors went down the shaft and was able to locate the body but was obliged to come up for air. Ropes were fastened about the man's waist and he made a second attempt to reach the body. Bailey was a Canadian about 40 years of age and married. The captain was informed.

Young Girl Meets Horrible Death.

Peoria, Ills., June 19.—A little girl who was passed into a large crowd of people who were standing on the tracks of the Peoria Terminal railroad watching a drag the river for the body of Willie Mittendorf, aged six years, who was drowned last evening.

Nellie Berry, aged 17 years, was run over and horribly mutilated. She died.

Mrs. Lizzie Kurtz, wife of a carpenter and her infant in her arms among those pushed down by the crowd. With great presence of mind she had her baby on the trestle and held her until behind the train passed over her. She was rescued from her perilous position in safety just in time. Two also were about to drop her babe to the people below.

Verdict of Not Guilty.

Cadiz, Pa., June 19.—Dr. Reese L. Archer of New York, his mother, Mrs. M. B. Snyder and his stepfather, Simon Snyder, who have been on trial for a week past, charged with arson and conspiracy to defraud the Berkshire County Mutual Fire Insurance Co., were found not guilty and the jury discharged. The county detective who was the prosecutor, is made to pay all costs. Dr. Archer and the Snyders were charged with setting fire to the buildings on the farm of Snyder in order to collect insurance.

Report Denied.

Ottawa, Ont., June 19.—Hon. H. H. Davis, in the House of Commons last night, denied that the British government was going to reopen the Behring Sea case before the Paris Arbitration of five years had expired. The Canadian government, he said, had impressed upon the British government the importance of proceeding to the strictest of the United States in this regard, as the main object of the Americans was to destroy the sealing industry. Their argument that pelagic sealing was exterminating seal life, he added, were not correct.

Severe Storm in Western Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 19.—A severe storm passed over western Indiana yesterday. Despatches from Muncie and other points report damage to farmers and houses aggregating $30,000 or $40,000 but no loss of life. Rumors to the contrary that several people were killed, but the reports lack confirmation. The principal damage was at Eaton and Albany, Ind.

Dead Beside Railroad Track.

North Attleboro, Mass., June 19.—The body of an unknown man, evidently a farm hand was found lying beside the railroad track here, today with the face crushed in. It is supposed that the midnight train struck him while he was walking on the track. Papers found on the body indicate that the man may have come from Lynn, Mass., but there is nothing to indicate his name. He was apparently about 40 years of age.

Pilgrimage to Whittier's Grave.

Amesbury, Mass., June 19.—The natural history society of West Newbury and a delegation from the Bradford school of Haverhill, today made a pilgrimage to Amesbury and visited the grave of Poet Whittier and his birthplace here. Later the natural history society held a meeting at Duxbury's Mill where Professor Alvah H. Eaton of New Hampshire, delivered an address on "The Botanist in California." The old South Historical society of Boston will make a similar pilgrimage on June 26.

When a young couple runs away to get married half the world says: "How Romantic!" the other half says: "How silly!" But you can't tell either way until the "honey-moon" is over. When the young couple get settled down to the regular hum-drum of life, they'll manage alright and find solid happiness in any case if they have good hearts and sound bodies. All depends on that.

It's wonderful how much health has to do with married happiness. Sickness affects the temper. You can't be happy or make others happy if you're ailing. When you find yourself irritable, easily worried, beginning to "run-down" it's because your blood is getting poor. You need richer blood and more of it. Your blood-making organs need to be vitalized. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It imparts new power to produce an abundance of the healthy, red corpuscles, and gives you a fresh supply of pure rich blood. It's a blood-creator; life for everyone whose blood is impure or in a poor, "run-down" condition. It prevents the germs of disease from getting a hold on your system. Even after disease is settled on you, it is driven out by the blood-creating properties of the "Discovery." It is a perfect cure for general and nervous debility, catarrh, chronic eczema, erysipelas, scrofula and every form of blood-disease. It isn't called a consumption-cure but, even consumption,—which has its roots in the blood—is driven out by the "Golden Medical Discovery" if taken in time. The "Discovery" is the prescription of one of the most eminent physicians and medical writers in this country.

ST. JOHN'S DAY

Observed by St. John's Commandery, K. T., on Sunday.

Able Sermon by Rev. E. F. Pember, at the Universalist Church.

St. John's Day was appropriately observed on Sunday by St. John's Commandery, K. T. Owing to the rain yesterday forenoon Harlow's Bangor Band did not accompany the Sir Knights to the Universalist church, but a large number of the members, under command of Eminent Commander D. A. Robinson, marched to the church and took seats reserved for them in the body of the auditorium.

The decorations were very beautiful. Prominent among them was a large Maltese cross formed of a body of white flowers and pink carnations. The decorations were arranged by ladies of the church. The services began at 10.30 with a pleasing organ voluntary by Mrs. E. E. Peck; finely rendered anthem, "I will lift mine eyes," by the choir; Scripture lesson; hymn by the choir and congregation; prayer by the pastor, and response "The Home Light" by the choir. The sermon was then delivered by Rev. Mr. Pember. It was a most able and appropriate discourse and was heard with great interest.

Rev. Mr. Pember took his text from Isaiah xxv, 8: "He will swallow up death in victory; and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces," and spoke in part as follows:

Upon no theme could prophetic vision be more profitably employed. If to any of God's children are given the power to reveal the glory of the future what better service could they render humanity than to solve this all important problem?

To satisfactorily answer this solemn question, is to save the souls of men from untold sadness. The chief glory of Jesus Christ rested in the fact that "He brought not only life but immortality to light." So the name of God's Prophet should be covered with glory for this triumphant song.

When the "silent reaper" enters our home, or visits our circle of friendship or acquaintance, and takes away some loved one our first thought is that the battle of life has ended in defeat.

While we stand with aching hearts and look through falling tears, we can not see the retreating foe, and we declare the battle lost.

This is true when parents weep over the lifeless form of a little child. This is true when a young man or a young woman is taken away, ere they have performed the work that we had hoped to see them accomplish.

Death seems a defeat when a husband or wife is taken away from the home and from the children depending upon them. Even the faltering footsteps of oldage make us feel that death and decay are but added evidences of defeat. All this and more would be true if the night of death had no morning. If what we call death really ended our existence then no words of ours could express our sadness and regret at being compelled to live at all. Prompted by our affection we follow our loved ones to the silent "City of the Dead," and hear the last words spoken, "Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust."

If at such a moment we should apply only the teaching of materialism what would be the result? Only sadness without hope. Suppose rather there should appear the Prophet of God, saying in calm and yet triumphant tones: "He will swallow up death in victory and the Lord God will wipe away tears from off all faces." Oh! the joy of such assurance. This is not a defeat, but a splendid victory. Not what it seems, but a triumph for time and eternity.

Henry Ward Beecher once said: "Dying is life. We are not what we appear to be. On this side of the grave we are called exiles, on that citizens; on this side orphans, on that children; on this side captives, on that, freemen; on this side disguised, unknown, on that disclosed and proclaimed as the sons of God." This triumphant change that must that does take place, constitutes the victory of which I wish to speak this morning.

Last Wednesday, with others, I witnessed the graduation of nearly a hundred young men and women from Tufts College. As they came forward to receive their diplomas they were greeted with applause, and in their own faces they showed the joy of that happy moment. May it not be thus for us all when we finish our own work here, and go forward to the duty of heaven? Will not the angels applaud when we enter our spiritual home?

First. Let us say that this great victory consists in the existence of a soul, a deathless personality, separate and distinct from the body, whose life is not endangered when the body dies. Our bodies are but the homes of earth in which we live during our pilgrimage here. The soul is the real personality the "I am," a spark of divinity, a child of God, and an heir of immortal glory. We are something more than bodies of flesh and blood, subject to disease, disaster or death. Disease or accident may take away the body, but the soul lives on.

This great fact we feel to be true in the depth of our own being, and we accept the testimony of others who have drawn near to that unseen shore.

Second. The great victory of the soul consists in the deliverance from the bondage of earth, and the entrance into the splendid freedom and the broader opportunities of Heaven.

We love this life here and cling to it, but when the great change comes we shall find that we are saved from a multitude of dangers and difficulties. Pain and suffering, temptation and sin, all the ills and foibles that flesh is heir to, will be left behind. To many of God's children this will mean much.

On the other hand we shall find our spirit home a far better place to learn the eternal verities of God. Great progress has been made in these later days in the methods of instruction, striving to let children learn as naturally as they acquire the language of their parents. So when we have entered that broader life, with the angels for our teachers, shall we not easily learn the glory of that spiritual world, and better understand the very highest truths of God?

Third. The great victory will consist in a life of perpetual joy, the complete absence of sorrow. "Tears shall be wiped from off all faces."

Sorrow undoubtedly has its mission in this life, were it not so God would not permit it to exist. To many who are indifferent to religious truth, sorrow may lead them nearer to God.

Sorrow may serve as "Mt. Sinai," upon which some may stand and talk with God face to face. Tears may afford some relief to those who are suffering, intensely they may be silent witnesses of a tender and sympathetic soul.

But Heaven can not be ideal until these evidences of sadness are completely banished. Our mental vision of those who have entered into the broader life is that their faces are wreathed in smiles and sunshine. We think of them as completely happy, clothed in purity and peace, and thus radiant in their heavenly character.

Sir Knights, members of St. John's Commandery, another year has passed since we assembled for a similar service. Every year must bring its changes. We place upon the roll of honor to-day the names of seven Sir Knights who have entered into the victory of death. Two of these, past commanders, were dear to you, and as friends of this church the names of Marshall Dyer and Arlington B. Marston will ever be dear to this congregation. We add five others, Richard Snow, James W. Patterson, Wm. H. S. Lawrence, Samuel Herrick and Frederick M. Laughton. All these were Knights worthy of the name. Years had passed since these our brethren first visited the "chamber of reflection," or partook of the "sealed libation," yet we may believe that the knightly lessons they learned in the asylum of earth, made more noble the soul and prepared them for that victory into which they have entered. To-day they know the full glory of heaven. We must patiently wait until it is revealed to us.

The services were concluded with an anthem, "The Lord is King," by the choir; a hymn and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Pember.

The following Sir Knights have died during the past year:

Past Commanders—Marshall Dyer, knighted July 12, 1863, died June 29, 1896; and Arlington B. Marston, knighted March 25, 1862, died May 6, 1897.

Sir Knights—Richard Snow, knighted May 3, 1860, died April 25, 1896; James W. Patterson, knighted February 12, 1863, died July 10, 1896; William H. S. Lawrence, knighted February 12, 1863, died July 13, 1896; Samuel Herrick, knighted November 16, 1874, died November 25, 1896; and Frederick M. Laughton, knighted December 30, 1889, died May 27, 1897.

Orono News.

Our correspondent writes: The Public library and Reading Room at Orono was opened Saturday morning last in its new quarters in the Katahdin Club building, formerly occupied by the post-office. These rooms are commodious, well located and have been fitted with new shelving and otherwise arranged so as to give better accommodations than heretofore to those frequenting them.

Of the sixteen passenger trains passing through Orono under the new time table now in effect, only six are scheduled for regular stops. For others, see the time table.

There was a pleasant birthday party Saturday afternoon at the home of Lieut. Royden in Orono in honor of his oldest son, who was two years old that day. A number of little people of about the same age, accompanied by their mothers, was present and a very delightful time was enjoyed.

The Knights Templar Pilgrimage.

If there were more hours in the day and more days in the week more entertainment would be provided for the Sir Knights of Beausant and their ladies during their pilgrimage within the lines of St. John's commandery this week. After all the days and hours had been completely filled by the committee of entertainment, the fraters of Greenville and vicinity, through Sir Knight Shaw, gave them an urgent invitation to stop there on their way to Kineo, and partake of their hospitality; and Sir Knight Capen was determined that no such party of pilgrims should sail by Deer Isle without stopping at the Capen House and receiving something to "cheer them on their way." But as all the time had been carefully provided for the committee were reluctantly obliged to decline these very courteous invitations.

The Fraternity and the College.....Charles S. Webster
Music.

The speakers all gave a good account of themselves, showing praiseworthy oratorical ability and training and good ideas upon the various subjects which they discussed. Each was heard with marked interest throughout and received appreciative applause. The awarding committee consisted of C. J. Dunn, Esq., of Orono, Hon. George H. Hunt and Rev. C. F. Andrews, of Oldtown. The report as to the prize winner will be read at the convocation, which will be held in the college chapel to-day at 10 a. m.

The music was by the Apollo Quartette, of Bangor, and the selections were sung with the harmony and expression characteristic of that well known and much appreciated organization.

Baccalaureate Sermon.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered last evening by Rev. J. M. Buckley, D. D., LL. D., of New York City, editor of the Christian Advocate. It had been planned to have the exercises in the Methodist church but on account of the failure of light there Town Hall was taken instead. The attendance was large and the occasion was one of much interest.

Prayer was offered by Rev. P. J. Robinson and the singing was by the U. of M. glee club with Miss Douglass as piano accompanist. Three selections were rendered with excellent effect.

Rev. Mr. Buckley read a passage of the Scriptures, the 38th chapter of Job, and then began his sermon from the text of James 4, part of the 12th verse—"There is one Law Giver." The argument was to sustain the position that there is but one law giver, God, whose law is made known to us in revelation and that revelation is found in the Bible.

Rev. Mr. Buckley gave a great deal of excellent advice to the students regarding their future and the sermon was an exceedingly strong one. It was about an hour and a quarter in length and held the close attention of all throughout.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. P. Jones.

A Law Department.

The faculty of the University of Maine are considering the establishment of a law department to be located in Bangor under the direction of the university and to be instructed by leading attorneys of the State. President Harris and the members of the faculty have completed many of the preliminaries, but as yet nothing definite has been arranged. Justice L. A. Emory of the Supreme Court has accepted an invitation to become one of the board of lecturers for the school, and other judges of the bench may also lecture.

The course is planned to consist of two years, divided into three terms of ten weeks each. In the following proposed curriculum the numerals show the number of lectures a week which multiplied by ten give the whole number in each term. The subjects marked with the star are given to both classes each second year, alternating with those opposite.

AN EXCITING GAME.

Bangors Defeat Belfasts in a 10 Inning Contest Full of Fun and Sensation.

You who did not attend the game Saturday afternoon are to be sympathized with. If any one wants better sport and more excitement than that exhibition in a ball game he will be obliged to travel a long distance. Such a game! Two innings of it would have repaid one for going down—yes, one inning, for in that particular inning there was a rally of the home team, a game of "hit and run" that did one's heart good. Our Fowler had his troubles in the 1st and 8th innings but McBride had a cartload of "trub" dumped on him in the 3rd.

The Belfasts came up to defeat the home team and started in for business. They put up a lively game. Little McBride, who pitched for Bangor years ago, was only easy for Bangor in one inning, but that was a corker. Manager Bacon wore a worried look while the slaughter was going on and McBride wasn't too chipper. In the 3rd homers by Birmingham and Trainor, 3-bagger by Wise and singles by Flack, McKenzie, Mackey and Meagher gave us 7 runs and a happy feeling about the heart. Trainor's 2-bagger tied the score for us in the 5th. In the 10th Flack went out on a fly to Hill. McKenzie got a base on balls. Nick Wise got a rattling 3-bagger (he's batting like a fiend). Birmingham went out on a fly to Donahue. Two out and one run. Then Mackey got a hit, scoring Wise. Meagher was an easy out.

Flack made a wonderful catch, Meagher did grand work and Trainor likewise. Birmingham was also a star. Fowler showed the effects of illness and lack of practice but was plucky and cool. Birmingham got the first homer on these grounds this season. Callopy and Mazena did fine work. The score:

To-day's Game.

Everybody should turn out to today's game. Billy Long's Augusta warriors will be the opponents of the Bangors. Newell and Mackey will be the Bangor battery.

Notes.

Sharrott arrived in the city yesterday and will be in the game with Augusta this afternoon. He will play in right field and will be a decided acquisition to the team.

The Bangors mean business from this time on and if hard work will win games then they will move upward steadily.

The following are quotations from managers and players regarding the Maine League:

Wise: "I thought I should have a soft snap in this league, but I find it faster than the New England league."

Birmingham: "Men coming from the New England league looking for easy ball get sadly left. The Maine league players are fully as good as the New England and the fielders are faster."

Manager Bacon: "I think the New England league not in it with the Maine State league."

Manager Chris Toole: "If the Maine State league teams continue to put up the fast ball they have since they started the New England league will have to hustle to beat us in a series of games at the end of the season. Don't think Bangor will stay long in first position or the tail end. It ought not to with the team I shall put before the public this week."

Manager Garvey: "Don't think Portland will have any advantage over the other clubs from now out. I think Bangor has four of the best pitchers in New England and I think all clubs will find that out before the season ends."

A series of five games will begin today at 6.30 p. m., between the Union 10s and another local team on Thomas Hill.

A Kennebec Journal man was proceeding along Main street, Waterville, Friday, when he witnessed an incident that interested, if it failed to amuse him. A woman came down the street pushing a baby carriage, in which was a child about a year old. The carriage had one of those white parasol tops, and a horse that was hitched to a post in front of Fuller's dry goods store became frightened. The horse reared and plunged, threatening to break away and dash down the sidewalk and in his fright would have gone in the direction of the baby carriage, as it was headed that way. A gentleman suggested that it would be best to go around the horse and go down on the other side of the street, but the woman gave him to understand at once and for all that she proposed to go down that side of the street, as she had a perfect right to. The owner of the horse was not about, in fact the poor horse did not seem to have a friend in the crowd on the street, until it got pretty well mixed up with the hitching post, when the reporter seized it and the woman went by. She kept up a constant chatter about the rights and privileges of a woman whose husband pays taxes. She had hardly passed the team when she turned round and proceeded to push that baby carriage, innocent enough in itself, toward the team, saying, she "would see if she had any rights," to the amazement of those who were witnesses. It was suggested that she was one of "the new women with independence to clean through." Whether she was looking for a chance to commit suicide or kill her child is not at this present writing known but she took some fearful chances that every other woman would go a long way to avoid.

The three-years-old child of Joseph Polakowich, who runs a dry goods store on Main street, Biddeford, was badly bitten in the face by a cocker spaniel, recently. The little fellow, whose name is Isaac, was playing with the dog, which is the property of L. H. Kendall, and had been fondling it in his arms. The squeezing that the youngster gave the dog was too much for the animal and the dog, getting mad, made a bite at the boy's face, and set his teeth in just above the right eye, making a bad wound. Mrs. Kendall and another lady nearby heard the child's cries and rushing out, picked him up and carried him into the house, where everything possible was done for him. The physician who dressed the wound does not anticipate serious result and the dog will not be killed.

It was a reminder of by-gone days to see a large porgy steamer in Portland Friday morning. It was the Seaconnet hailing from Newport, R. I. She has been after porgies for a month past and put in at Sargent & Dennison's for coal. The Seaconnet left Newport a month ago and has been along the Maine coast as far as Matinicus rock. She put into the bays near Rockland and
